

Search for Chief Program Officer
The Yawkey Foundations
Dedham, MA

THE SEARCH

The Yawkey Foundations seek an exceptional and experienced individual to serve as the next Chief Program Officer. The Chief Program Officer will be responsible for the day-to-day management of the Foundations' grant making programs and will report directly to Chief Executive Officer and Board of Trustees to ensure that the mission of the Foundations is faithfully executed. Overseeing 2.0 FTEs, this individual will be a hands-on Officer, working with Foundation leadership to execute the Foundations' mission and strategy, including reviewing and preparing evaluations of grant requests and preparing grant-related materials for Board meetings. This individual will also manage relationships with grantee organizations as well as coordinate the external communications materials for the Foundations.

The Yawkey Foundations trace their origins back over eight decades to the philanthropic commitments of Tom and Jean Yawkey. With great concern for the forgotten and underserved, Tom and Jean Yawkey took careful steps to ensure that their legacy would live on through the work of the Yawkey Foundations. The Yawkeys are perhaps best known for their longtime ownership of the Boston Red Sox and for providing unwavering and transformational support to the Jimmy Fund and Dana Farber Cancer Institute throughout their lives. More quietly, but with just as much passion and commitment, Tom and Jean Yawkey were also engaged in an unwavering dedication to those most in need, particularly children and families.

Following the legacy of Tom and Jean Yawkey, the Trustees of the Yawkey Foundations have taken great care in their grant making to preserve and perpetuate the original philanthropic vision and interests of the Yawkeys. The Trustees seek to emulate Tom and Jean Yawkey's commitments to Health Care, Education, Human Services, Youth and Amateur Athletics, Arts and Culture, and Conservation and Wildlife. Since 1977, the Trustees have made over $550 million in grants to organizations large and small that continue the Yawkeys' efforts to improve the quality of life in the communities that they called home, Massachusetts, New England and Georgetown County, South Carolina.

The successful candidate will be an accomplished professional with a deep appreciation and passion for the mission, achievements, and aspirations of the Yawkey Foundation and desire to play a meaningful role in the Foundations' long-range future. While experience in grantmaking is preferred, the Foundation will consider candidates who are less experienced in direct grantmaking but possess transferable skills and experience obtained through legal practice, non-profit leadership, professional services, or the corporate world. Candidates will preferably have demonstrated and meaningful experience contributing to the mission and impact of community organizations dedicated to creating equitable access to opportunity and making positive change in communities, especially those communities that have been historically subject to underinvestment. There is also a strong preference for candidates with have an interest in or experience working with nonprofit organizations in Massachusetts and a commitment to program areas supported by Tom and Jean Yawkey and their Foundations.

The Yawkey Foundations have retained Isaacson, Miller, a national executive search firm, to assist with this important search. Inquiries, nominations, and applications should be directed in confidence to the firm as indicated at the end of this document.

THE FOUNDATIONS

The Yawkeys' commitment to philanthropy extended to many organizations throughout Massachusetts and Georgetown County, South Carolina. They were particularly interested in supporting organizations that encouraged access to education, health care, human services, youth and amateur athletics, arts and culture, and conservation efforts. The Yawkeys were particularly dedicated to providing equitable access for those with barriers to opportunities and experiences aligned with these priorities.

One of Tom Yawkey's greatest legacies was the donation of 20,000 acres of land along the shoreline in Georgetown County to the South Carolina Department of Natural Resources. Now known as the Tom Yawkey Wildlife Center, the area is considered to be one of the most outstanding grants to wildlife conservation efforts in North America. Its marshes, marine wetlands, forests, and sandy beaches play host to hundreds of species of coastal wildlife and serve as an undisturbed habitat for migratory birds, eagles, alligators, and many other endangered species. The Tom Yawkey Wildlife Center remains a focus of Yawkey Foundation I and the Trustees work diligently to support it as a place of conservation and learning.

In 1982, Jean Yawkey established Yawkey Foundation II to ensure the thoughtful legacy of giving that she and Tom Yawkey began would persist long after their lifetimes. Through her direct involvement and active leadership during the last decade of her life, Jean Yawkey imprinted the Foundation with her own highly personal style of giving. Like Tom, she cared deeply for the people who lived and worked in the communities that she called home and sought to use her Foundation to help improve the lives of those in need.

In 2022 the trustees awarded over $20 million to a wide variety of nonprofit organizations serving the people of Massachusetts and South Carolina. Beyond providing program support, the Trustees believe that, in the right circumstances, a grant to support a capital project can have a profound impact on an organization's ability to fulfill its mission. It embodies a way of caring, a way of giving, and a way of honoring Tom and Jean Yawkey's meaningful legacy to the communities they loved.
